City of Lawrence Board of Health Collection

Repository: Lawrence History Center

Creator and Dates: Employees of the City of Lawrence 1874 – 1984

Some supplemental information that was not created by city employees and pre and post- date the above dates is included in the listing with the Charitable Department Records

Accession Number: 2015.011

Quantity: The collection is comprised of numerous ledgers and paperwork that is in folders and stored in Hollinger boxes.

Processed by: Kathy Flynn and Mary Pannos (Finding Aid created by Amita Kiley and Mary Pannos)

Access: Open for research, but the Lawrence History Center reserves the right to restrict some material

Provenance: The majority of this material was rescued by Immigrant City Archives (Lawrence History Center’s original name) founder Eartha Dengler and early volunteers. The bulk of the records came from the basement of Lawrence City Hall; some records came from the basement of the Bessie M. Burke Memorial Hospital before it was demolished. We are not sure of the exact dates this activity took place, but we do know that it was between 1980 and 2000. Some of the material was stored in the LHC warehouse, while other items were stored in the closed stacks.

In 2017, LHC volunteers Kathy Flynn and Mary Pannos began the process of rehousing the material to the closed stacks. Some ledgers will remain in the warehouse and they are included and noted as being stored in the warehouse in this listing. The material was inventoried and carefully examined to determine what type of information was available. Mary then created custom covers for each ledger and re-foldered loose material.

Historical Note: (from the Lawrence Eagle Tribune Centennial Edition, 1953; refer to the article for more detail): “The Lawrence municipal health department dates back to 1877 when the citizens of Lawrence were called upon to vote on special statutes providing for a board of health. In 1878, the Health Department began to function as a separate municipal division.

The principal functions of the Board of Health included the collection of offal and garbage, cleaning out privy vaults, the supervision of plumbing in buildings and all of drainage, both public and private, the collection of ashes and rubbish, and to act as a vigilance committee to discover the source of disease and resultant epidemics. At the time, the main worry of health officials was curbing smallpox, typhoid and diphtheria, principally.”

Some key dates in the Board of Health’s history (dates and events listed below fall between the years and among the areas our records represent):

1849 – On February 20 an Alms House was opened (called the municipal hospital and, in its earliest stages, the Cottage Hospital

1885 – Contagious Disease Hospital was erected (in the Marston St./Essex County Training School area of Lawrence)
1893 – The city saw a significant decline in typhoid fever after the filtering process of municipal water supply was adopted.

1902 – To further reduce the outbreak of smallpox, larger mills began to require a vaccination certificate by prospective employees before they were allowed to work

1909 – A Tuberculosis Hospital was established on Chickering St. (was ready for occupancy in the fall of 1910)

1909 – Legislation was passed on May 19 to include a milk inspection department under the jurisdiction of the Health Department

1918 – On December 1, the first social disease clinic was opened by the Health Department

1936 – 1937 – Sections of the City Hospital and Infirmary were remodeled and a new hospital section, an administration building, nurses’ home and new infirmary wing were constructed. On March 2, 1936, city council unanimously voted to name the hospital in honor of Bessie M. Burke, who had formerly served as its matron

Book #3: February 6, 1905 – January 1, 1912
Book #4: January 16, 1918 – April 14, 1931
February 4, 1878: On this date, the Lawrence, MA Board of Health held their first meeting. The Board was established as a new City Department and property was transferred to the office in City Hall. This was the first step in oversight and licensing by the Board of Health. Regulations were established regarding the governance of privy vaults, night soil removal and disposal, swill removal (see 12/23/1879), keeping of swine, death certificates, uniform collection barrels.

May 17, 1880: The establishment of written minutes with regulations printed in newspapers commenced. These included: the removal and disposal of dead animals, cesspools, water analysis, bids for collection of swill, grease, bones and night soil. Health regulations for new construction were devised.

1881: It was established that doctors must notify the Board of Health of any contagious diseases diagnosed among their patients.

January, 1882: Noted rise in cases of smallpox.
